INSANE MAN SEVERS HAND WITH A KNIFE

Desperate Act of a Mad Turfman at Pekin, Ill., Who Uses a Dull Blade.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 12.—Patrick Hayes, a man well known throughout Illinois as a race horse man, became insane at Pekin. He fled from his burning house and reached the home of Phillip King, three and one-half miles northeast of Pekin, where he drove the entire family out into the storm. Inside he smashed furniture and crockery until the home was wrecked.

King telephoned to Sheriff Clay of Pekin, who, accompanied by Policeman Sassen of Pekin, undertook his capture. Hayes was barricaded in a room and the officers smashed in the door to get him. He fought fiercely, but was finally overpowered.

When a light was brought in it was discovered that Hayes had hacked his left hand off at the wrist and had cut his throat, using a dull dinner knife for the purpose. He was placed in a buggy and taken to Pekin, where he was given medical attention. Hayes is a brother-in-law to Chief of Police Sullivan of Decatur, Ill.

MANIAC IS FROZEN TO DEATH

FRENCHMAN DOES NOT BELIEVE IT

Henry Vignaud Answers Critics, of His View of the Discovery of America.

Paris, Jan. 12.—Henry Vignaud, first secretary of the United States embassy here and vice president of the Americanists' society of Paris, has just published his letters written to Sir Clements Markham, president of the Royal Geographical society, and Charles Raymond Boazley, in reply to their criticisms of his book, "Toscanelli and Columbus."

These latest contributions to the interesting controversy were raised by Mr. Vignaud's assertion that the famous documents ascribed to Toscanelli, the learned Florentine astronomer, were fabricated. They clearly set forth arguments of the authenticity of Toscanelli's alleged letter, and favor the story of the pilot who is said to have given Columbus the hint which led to the discovery of the Western hemisphere.

MARCONI'S PRICE IS VERY HIGH

Denmark Thinks He Wants Too Much for His Wireless Telegraph System.

Copenhagen, Jan. 12.—M. Meyer, director of the government telegraphs states that the government entered into negotiations with Marconi to establish the wireless system in Iceland, the Faroe Islands and Shetland, but the matter is at a standstill, owing to the price asked, which is $150,000 for connection between Iceland and the Faroe Islands, and $50,000 between the Faroe Islands and Shetland, which is dearer than the cost of a cable. If the price is reduced the government might establish wireless stations in Greenland and Denmark.

MAYA INDIANS AGAIN AT WAR

Mexican Troops, However, Are Victorious in the First Battle Waged.

Mexico City, Jan. 12.—A number of bands of hostile Maya Indians have renewed the rebellion in Yucatan which was thought to have been quelled. With the object of subduing these the federal government recently sent four companies of troops, commanded by Colonel Jose M. Villalaz and Major Molina, to Santa Cruz, where the Indians were gathered in considerable numbers. The result was that the troops had several small skirmishes with the Indians, who lost seven killed and several wounded. The Mexicans had only one soldier killed and several wounded. The soldiers succeeded in capturing a large amount of arms and provisions from the enemy, as well as destroying some of their villages.

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE SOON TO BEGIN WORK OF THE SESSION

Much Gossip as to the Probable Clerk of the Senate, and Organization of Same, by Conservative Republican Senators.

(Special To The Gazette)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 12.—With the opening of the session of the legislature but two days away, the question as to who will be the speaker of the assembly appears to be no more definitely settled than it was a week ago. While 47 votes—nine more than enough to elect him—are claimed for L. L. Lenroot of Superior, the claim is disputed by the friends of George H. Ray of LaCrosse. Many of them concede Mr. Lenroot the lead, but do not concede that he will have enough votes on the first ballot, and that if he wins at all it must be on the first or second. If the balloting goes beyond that stage they contend Ray will get votes both from the Bradford and Lenroot ranks, and carry off the nomination. Only twelve votes are given to Bradford by the estimators, and one well-informed man says that five of these will go to Lenroot when it becomes apparent that the Eau Claire man cannot be nominated. Lenroot has the administration backing, if not by direct word from the governor, at least from that of some of his immediate friends, and it is in this that he has an advantage over ex-Speaker Ray, whose vote for the Hagemelster primary election bill and signature to the call for the formation of the stalwart league are charged up against him by the LaFollette men. To the unprejudiced observer it looks as though Lenroot would win, though the result cannot be definitely predicted until the republican assembly caucus is held tomorrow evening.

Much Uncertainty

There is a good deal of uncertainty also as to who will be the officers of the senate, which likewise will be settled in caucus tomorrow evening. Senator J. H. Stout is slated by the stalwarts, who have a small majority in the upper house, for president pro tem, but he is not an active candidate himself, and may not oppose Senator McMillin if the latter wants a re-election. The conservative slate is inscribed with the names of Theodore Goldin of Janesville, for chief clerk and Hy. C. Schmidt of Milwaukee for sergeant at arms, but Senator O'Neil, who is a pronounced conservative, has a candidate for sergeant in the person of Sanford McDonald of Bayfield, and report has it that this, with the fact that Mr. Goldin already holds a county position with a good salary, may lead Mr. Schmidt to make the race for the chief clerkship, which was his original choice. This would naturally split the conservative vote, and help the chances of Grant M. Thomas of this city, also a candidate for chief clerk at noon and little will be accomplished this week beyond effecting the organization of the two houses, as the speaker of the assembly will need some time to make up the committees. Thursday Governor LaFollette will deliver his message to the legislature and this, it is expected will be the most exhaustive discussion of state affairs and finances ever sent to the legislature by an executive. It will of course urge the passage of a satisfactory primary election law, revision of the taxation laws, and other legislation, and will besides this give the most complete statement of the state's finances which has ever been compiled. The legislature at its last session passed an act requiring the several state officers, heads or chiefs of departments and bureaus of the state of service, and the several boards having charge of the charitable and penal and educational institutions of the state, including the normal schools and state university, to report to the governor by January 10 in each odd numbered year, all the receipts and expenditures in their respective departments during the two previous years. These figures will enable the governor to compile a statement which will show the solons just what it costs to run all branches of the state government more completely than anything which has before been attempted.

TELEPHONE ON EAU CLAIRE CAR

Interurban Conductor Talks of Clever Device on Chippewa Valley Road

As a number of men were chatting with the conductor on one of the I. B. & J. cars Sunday afternoon, a few minutes before the time for the trip to begin, someone remarked that the line was unusually well built and equipped. "You're right," responded the conductor. "All that we need to be complete is a telephone system of the kind they are using on the Chippewa Valley road running to Eau Claire."

He then went on to describe the apparatus which is in use. Each car is provided with a long pole with wires and receiver and transmitter attached, with which connection is made with the trolley. The conductor can then 'phone in to headquarters from any place along the line, and in case of a breakdown or accident a repair crew can be sent in without a moment's delay. The conductor did not believe, however, that there was any great danger that the telephone system in use would ever prove inadequate for all the needs of the local interurban.

Europeans Flee from Moorish Capital in Great Fear of Death.

Tangier, Jan. 12.—All of the European residents of Fez have fled and the foreign consuls will follow immediately. The first to leave the capital were five women missionaries—four English and one American. They left on Jan. 8 and have arrived here in safety.

Many sensational reports are current here of affairs in Fez, but there is little reliable news to be had. The only reassuring feature is the fact that the tribes to the south of Fez are quiet.

They add that they have found the gas works in fair condition, though the methods employed are far from modern, and that the class of workmen is excellent.

Hungry passengers have been kept for hours in the snow bound trains. Much damage has been done by floods in Ireland.

ROASTS JANESVILLE

Beloit Free Press Claims Bad Management of Bowling Matches

The Beloit Free Press roasts the Janesville crowd at last week's bowling match severely for the way in which they "flocked over the place so that many throws well intended went astray because some spectator hung an arm or a leg over the alleys just at the critical moment. The arrangement for spectators at the Janesville alleys is much inferior to that at the local alleys. The manager did all that he could last night to keep the runways clear but the crowd was large and enthusiastic."

MUST RETURN TO OLD SIMPLICITY

PRAYER IS BEING SPOILED BY MODERN METHODS.

MISCHIEF-MAKERS IN CHURCH

Rev. J. H. Tippet Preached on "The Simplicity of Prayer," at Court St. M. E. Church.

At the Court Street M. E. church on Sunday morning the Rev. J. H. Tippet preached a sermon of virtue power on the "Simplicity of Prayer." For his text he selected the first verse of the first chapter of Judges: "The Children of Israel asked the Lord." Repeating the words of the text, Rev. Tippet asserted that this was the simple and direct method of prayer, the one likely to succeed. We have modernized, complicated and spoiled prayer as we have modernized and spoiled many things. It is often said that the pulpit has lost much of its power. If so it is the result of no competition and not outside power. It is the fault of the pulpit itself. The supplicants themselves are responsible for the loss of power in prayer.

So-Called Progress
The mischief maker cannot be kept out of the church. Unruly fingers write new programs, introducing new features which are called progress. It is said that the age of idolatry is past. Men love little idols if it is only in a love form of service. They call it keeping up to the times. These mischief makers are at work in the church and they do it no good. No man does the church good unless he takes it back to the beginning and the old simplicity.

"The children of Israel asked the Lord." The old method has not been changed. Jesus Christ added nothing. Paul did not change the method nor did James alter the plan. They each simply said "ask."

Mischief Makers in Church
The mischief maker wants to revise things. He thinks the young people want something new. So there are new program makers in the churches, introducing more chanting, more singing and less preaching. They want the evening service to be a sort of a club, a baptized entertainment. A Chicago clergyman advocates bowling alleys and billiard tables in every church and says that theaters which educate for good should have the support of the church. The thought is that the church ought to provide entertainment for the people. It is the prevalence of this idea which has done much to tear the church down from its place of power. It is the business of the church to provide religious instruction and inspiration and to do it as it ought to be done will tax it to the utmost. The church must get back to its old simplicity.

Prayer is Uplifting
"The Children of Israel asked the Lord." It was the plain way, the simple way, the rational way. We have addressed God in long-syllabled words and have lost the old way of simply asking, of talking to him and telling him our needs. Speaking to God elevates the mind. Prayer takes the supplicant to a higher level. No man can be religious and be meanly little. If religion has not lifted a man to a new level and clothed him with a new individuality, he has not known religion as God meant him to know it.

Prayer Without Words
Spiritual exercise develops the soul. No one can look God in the face without catching something of his smile. If a man is daily communing with God, he bears the witness in his face. Many times prayer is without words. Misery seeks the face of the great king. Grief may ask a few moments to swallow its bitterness but the appeal for help will bring an answer and the public can be faced as though there had never been a grief.

Nothing can be kept from God's omniscience. He knows every bit of the sorrow but he also knows human nature so well that he gives man permission to tell him the entire story. Do not ask a man who has never prayed what he thinks of prayer. As well ask the deaf man what he thinks of Beethoven's music or the man who has never stirred an inch from his fireside what he thinks of the climate of the north or the south pole. Do not ask the unspiritual man to give judgment on things spiritual. He cannot do it.

God is Interested
Prayer is no matter of intellectual thinking. It is not dictation. It is not even suggestion although God permits man to say what he wants and often the request is refused. The man undervalues life who thinks that anything is beneath God's attention. He is interested in the smallest thing that interests man and he has said so in many beautiful ways.

It is well to remember that the text refers to the people of Israel. Character and inheritance are implied. They belonged to a praying people. Character determines prayer and inheritance counts for much. We are the last representatives to the present time, of a long line of people who have tested the power of prayer and the trust will not break in our hands if we are simple and true. The answers to prayers offered thousands of years ago are being received today.

But One Prayer
Men and women, be more religious, as religion is taught in the atonement of Christ. There is really only one prayer. Talking to God is praying, but not prayer. In telling him all about things, one does not enter into the sanctity of prayer. No man has prayed effectually and truly until he adds "thy will not mine be done." He must pray into harmony with God's will. God will not keep his son from the cross but he did not allow the cross to terminate his personality. So the soul in trouble, submitting to God's will, often sees the resurrection beyond the cross and Olivet beyond Cavalry. In the bitterness of grief, if we trust God without reservation, the morning has already dawned and the gate of heaven has already opened to give us glory.

DELANEY WINNER OF RACE AT RINK

Speedy Roller Skater Takes First Place Against Several Fast Men, Saturday.

In Saturday evening's roller skating race at the rink there was a larger entry list than there has been in some of the past contests. There were five or six competitors and they put up a live fight every lap of the mile. Delaney easily took first place soon after the start and held it to the finish. The audience was large and showed its pleasure in the skating by making a rush for the rink the moment the race was ended.

While the side attractions at the rink have drawn large crowds the skating devotees seem to object to leaving the floor for even so short a time as the few minutes while race or other event is in progress. There are a certain number who may be seen there almost every night, and several of them, especially two or three of the young ladies, have gained considerable experience. Janesville is to be congratulated on the entire lack of disorder which characterizes skating rinks in many cities.

EVANSVILLE HOPES FOR A FINE STORE

Plans Being Made for Cooperative Department Store in Which Many Will Take Stock.

Several enterprising Evansville gentlemen are making plans for the establishment of a large department store conducted on a co-operative basis. The scheme involves the issuing of four thousand shares at twenty-five dollars a share. No individual is to be allowed to purchase more than one hundred shares. As soon as a majority of the stock is disposed of a meeting will be called of the stockholders and the election of officers will follow in due course.

Those who are interested foresee no hindrance to the successful development of the project. When the store has once been put on a paying basis the stockholders are to be given their share of the dividends, making the enterprise a source of profit to forty persons, at the inside calculation, and it is expected that the investors will consist in large part of the citizens.

MUCH TOBACCO WAS BROUGHT SATURDAY

Farmers Bring Their Leaf to the Warehouses, to Be Taken in the City.

Up to a late hour Saturday afternoon large quantities of tobacco were received at nearly all of the warehouses in the city. The last day of each week has been fixed as receiving day. At that time all of the farmers and raisers of the soothing weed in the surrounding country take occasion to bring load after load of leaf into the city, and Janesville wears even more the air of a thriving tobacco center than its many warehouses usually give it.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, January 12, 1893: Our naval forces at Galveston have met with repulse and disaster. The flagship was blown up by a shot which entered the magazine, and the Harriet Lane, together with about 600 soldiers were captured. The entrance to the harbor of Galveston is narrow, crooked, and about fifteen miles long, surrounded by small sand islands. When the tide is out the smallest vessels of war would be left without sufficient water to float them.

It is stated that the secretary of war is about to institute measures of greater severity against desertions from the army. This may be necessary but if the men were treated better by their officers we think this evil would disappear almost entirely.

There are a vast number of ignorant, tyrannical and drunken officers in the service, against whose overbearing and insulting conduct the privates have no redress. The American volunteer is a man and must be treated as such, or demoral-

MANY ARE SICK AND SUFFERING

REV. WARNER TALKS OF INVALIDS IN THE CITY.

LONGING FOR RELIGIOUS AID

Personal Aid Should Be Given by the Church to Victims of Higher Criticism.

Rev. W. W. Warner addressed the First Methodist congregation Sunday morning on the topic: "Held Picked Fruit." The sermon was an argument for personal influence and contact as a powerful factor in efficient religious work. The individual element of connection was shown to be a universal rule of success in every branch of human activity.

The text was the story of the leper whom Jesus touched and made clean. Was Picked By Hand

Those who attended the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago, said the pastor, cannot fail to recall the masses of fruit with which the California building was filled. Every piece of fruit, in all of the thousands upon thousands which went to make up that gorgeous exhibit, had been picked by hand, and sorted over; each was then separately wrapped and so packed as to make transportation as little injurious as possible. In that way the shipment from the Pacific coast to the scene of the exposition was accomplished safely. In nearly all successful operations the hand process is still used although this has become so wonderfully the age of machinery. On the farm, where such startling advances have been made, personal handling is still necessary in most of the steps of harvesting the grain in the fields.

Law of Politics
Christ gave innumerable instances, recorded and those which are not individually referred to, of the healing effect which his proximity to the sick or maimed sufferer brought about. By laying his hands upon them he cured the lame, caused the blind to see, and even gave such convincing proof of his power as to cause the dead to come to life.

Politicians would be impotent if they could not come into personal conversation with the voters. Their power is dependent upon it, and the greater their efforts in that direction, the greater their influence.

Great corporations and mercantile concerns rely on their small armies of "drummers" to come into close relationship with each of their customers.

Great Wisconsin Statesman
Philetus Sawyer, said Mr. Warner, was one of the most powerful men Wisconsin ever had in her public service, untiring in his efforts to help the state, and yet he was never in his life able to make a public speech in the body to which he was elected as the representative of many thousands of citizens. But he had unusual power in talking to man face to face. His influence was felt through his ability in this direction, and was as great as though he had been able to sway audiences by his oratory.

In religious work this same law of success should be applied. Christ used it, manufacturers use it, politicians cannot accomplish their ends without it, and in the hands of Christian men or women it is of untold power.

Many Sick and Lame

By the gate of this modern civilization there lie many who are ill or maimed. Higher criticism has claimed many victims—men who are racked by the discordant views of those who make pretense to surpassing knowledge. Many lie in Janesville, sick and discouraged because they lack sympathy, and are near death for lack of a religious comforter.

Some lie on sick beds of fever, the feverish lust for gold. In the 40's many traveled in the vast army which sought the Californian gold fields. Their path was marked by the bones of many of their numbers who had fallen by the side. Men are still seeking the same idol. The Klondike claims its victims. On every side men in mercantile and business pursuits are engaged in the search for the same futile treasure.

Personal contact is the aid for all of these complaints, and the members of the churches are the ones who should be the first to practice it. Everything can be gained by it when it is aimed along the right channels.

Supt. Cooley submitted recommendations to the Chicago Board of Education for a better system of schools and a higher standard of teaching.

ization will be the consequence. The secretary of the war would do great service to the army if some means were taken to mete out prompt justice to officers who maltreat and oppress privates in the service.

Richmond Enquirer has the following: It is now ascertained that the enemy returned from this position on Saturday and Sunday morning, seven miles beyond Stuart's Creek. His cavalry returned after hearing of the withdrawal of our forces. Gen. Morgan has returned safe from destroying the Nashville railroad within four miles of Louisville. He also destroyed the Lexington and Covington railroad and paroled a large number of prisoners.

Last night Gen. Curtis received dispatches from Col. Crabb, commanding at Springfield Mo., that the rebels were repulsed at every advance, and our forces held the place. But little of Springfield was damaged. The rebels entirely destroyed the telegraph between Springfield and Land Spring. Curtis has three columns of troops after the enemy.

DESIRE TO REMOVE PIONEER'S REMAINS

Movement to Take Stephen Mack's Remains from Phillips and Inter Them at Rockton.

The remains of Stephen Mack and his wife Ho-No-Ne-Gah, which were placed in the Phillips cemetery a few years since, by the liberality and enterprise of William Halley of Owen and others, should be moved to the Rockton cemetery and a suitable monument erected, urges a Rockton correspondent. Mr. Mack was the first white settler in this section of the country and was most prominently identified with the early history of the country. Mr. Halley is the only living member of the little company that rescued the remains of the Indian trader from obliteration, and is agreeable to the plan for the permanent lodgment of the remains in the Rockton cemetery and a suitable monument erected and will also lend financial aid to this end. Engalls Carlton, of Rockford, says he will contribute liberally if this matter can be taken up. It is altogether possible if Supervisor Cowen would start a paper for this purpose the matter could soon be accomplished.

JANESVILLE MAID IN NEW ADE PLAY

Miss Helen Cogswell Will Be "Home Grown Article" in "Peggy from Paris."

When George Ade's new opera, "Peggy from Paris," opens at the Studebaker, Chicago, on the 26th of this month, one of the important roles will be played by an erstwhile Janesville maid, Miss Helen Cogswell. Her childhood days were spent in this city, where she has relatives who are eagerly watching her stage career before the amusement seeking public. More recently she has been with the prince of Pilsen company which visited the Myers Grand in December.

With the Pilsen company Miss Cogswell was one of the seashell girls in the chorus that flopped about the jovial brewer, and was known as Pearl Beach. Last week she was recalled to Chicago where the Ade musical comedy is being rehearsed. The role which she will fill is that of Lily Ann Lynch, whom the author designates as the "home grown article."

As may be inferred from the last words, Peggy is even more decidedly Adeque than was the Sultan of Sulu. There will be no room for the charge which has been made against the latter production, that it is not profusely enough embellished with those expressions which the Indiana Aesop has made so peculiarly his own. The scene is laid in a small Illinois town, and the characters are said to employ language which fairly out-Ades Ade.

Manager Cogswell is lavishing money on the production which will be unusually prodigal in costume and scenery and the honor of the assignment of the part of Miss Cogswell is not slight.

GOOD JOKE PLAYED ON GAME WARDENS

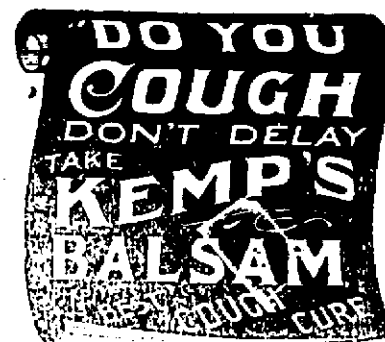

They Chase a Supposed Fisherman Half a Day Before Discovering the Trick.

The boys residing at Koshkonong are telling a good story on Warden Drafahl and Grats about a chase they had after a fisherman on New Year's day.

They got wind of Drafahl and Grats being at the lake looking for fishermen and knowing they were stopping with Al Vincent, decided to have a little sport with them. They arranged with one of the boys who was a good sprinter to go up near Vincent's and pretend to be fishing and as soon as Drafahl and his partner appeared on the ice to make a run for it and give them a chase. The balance of the crowd were stationed at different points about the lake where they had a view of the supposed fisherman, so that in case the wardens caught him they were able to swear that he was not fishing. The plan worked all right. The man went out on the ice and from the shore appeared to be busily engaged in catching fish. The wardens from their lookout at Vincent's saw him and started out to make a catch. They had got about half way to the alleged fisherman, when he discovered them and started across the lake. The wardens took after him hot foot but after keeping up the chase for half a day finally gave it up. They then went back to where it looked as if he had been fishing and found there were no holes cut in the ice and that they had been worked for all there was in it, and that the boys had the laugh on them.

The next day the wardens made a tour of the lake and to get even grabbed every line they could find that was not being watched.

The Drama.

Frank Hennessey's company will present, Harry B. Smith's new musical comedy, "The Liberty Bells" at the Myers Grand Thursday, January 15. The story concerns the adventures of two school girls—Margery Lee, (Nevada Hefron) and Dorothy Grey (Gertrude Millington). The first act scene is a girl school at night, and the girls get together for a midnight supper, taking advantage of the screeners are Jack Everleigh and Phil Fullerton, the former an Annapolis cadet engaged to Dorothy, the latter a scapegrace Sophomore engaged to Margery. For a practical joke these two intrude upon the party as burglars. They are caught, and rather than confess their love affairs they admit their guilt as burglars and are led away to jail. Margery and Dorothy are blamed for the supper and are told that in the morning they shall be expelled. The girls escape from the school that night. The scene of the second act is that of a cooking school, established by Margery and Dorothy, as they have fallen into disgrace with their guardians, owing to their leaving school so informally. Here a new interest by the appearance of two uncles, one Hiram Ketcham, a sea captain; the other, Jasper Pennyfeather, an inventor. The former believes in marriage and gives Jack an allowance, believing that he is married and the father of a baby girl. Dorothy's Uncle Jasper is opposed to marriage and gives Dorothy an allowance on conditions that she never marries. Before the advent of the uncles, Jack and Dorothy have been secretly married. Now with the two uncles appearing, policy requires that Dorothy should be single to please Uncle Jasper and that Jack should be married to please Uncle Hiram. But Jack and Dorothy are married to each other. They hit upon the idea of Jack representing Margery as his wife, Dorothy claiming to be single. The complications resulting from this plan are heightened by Phil's jealousy of Margery, which causes him at an opportune time to claim Dorothy as his wife. A baby plays an important part in the action of this act. It is the child of an Italian woman, a protegee of Dorothy's. She loans the infant to Jack to show to Uncle Hiram as his own; then repents her bargain and recovers her baby, running away with it to Florida. The scene of the 3rd act is a Florida grove where the complications increase after the manner of farces, until rather an unconventional denouement is reached. Miss Nevada Hefron is of twenty exceptionally attractive and clever young women to take the place of the conventional chorus. Each one plays a distinct character, and in fact, "The Liberty Bells" may be said to be a musical comedy.

PINK PAJAMA GIRL.

has a congenial role—that of a stage struck girl, and Harry Lyons as the eccentric inventor will have opportunities for naturally introducing his remarkable specialty. As Jack Everleigh, the popular light comedian Harry Stuart has one of the best roles that he has ever played. Frank Hennessey has engaged a company without chorus. In putting together the musical score of "The Liberty Bells," Frank Hennessey has departed from the stereotyped custom and instead of having all or nearly all the songs composed by one man, he has thought a greater variety of styles might be secured by calling on different musical geniuses.

NEWS IS VERIFIED BY MOST EDITORS

Charles Holt, Formerly of The Gazette, Writes of the Care Taken in Newspaper Offices.

Mr. Charles Holt one of the veterans of the newspaper profession, in the northwest and for many years the owner and editor of the Janesville Gazette and now owner of the Kankakee Gazette has an interesting editorial in the verification of news by the editor of a paper. His article treats of the great care that is taken by editors of a daily paper to make sure that their news is absolutely correct. These facts are not generally known to the outside world and the article will bear reprinting.

Aside from the interest in the subject itself many of the old timers will remember Mr. Holt when he lived here, and will be pleased to again read something that comes from his pen.

The great care exercised by the average editor in verifying his news reports and making his published statements absolutely accurate is a phase of newspaper work little understood by the general public, says the Oskaloosa, (Ia.) Herald. No one who has not served a veteran's career behind the scenes of the business of newspaper publishing can have any conception of the diligence and constant care exercised by newspaper men to make their every statement absolutely true in fact.

All the information contained in an average newspaper aggregating in volume every two days the size of an ordinary 350 page book, has to be ferreted out, reported, edited, set into type, and published within an average working day, and yet the percentage of mistakes to the total number of accuracies, if known, would make the average critic of a newspaper ashamed of himself.

It must have been with some idea of this situation in his mind that Judge Burnham, in ruling upon a motion to direct a verdict for the newspaper in yesterday's libel suit against the Oskaloosa Times-Republican said: "It is the duty of a newspaper man, when he conducts and publishes a newspaper, to give the news to the public and if it is done in good faith and without malice or intention to wrong or injure another, if it is substantially correct, it is conditionally privileged, and therefore there is no liability on the part of the publishers to one who claims he is wronged in a suit against them for damages, and if this paper has ever done a good service, it seems to me it has in this matter."

In this particular case of the publications complained of the distinct public service of the newspaper was able to set forth by the court when it said: "Now the charges that were made against his plaintiff had been circulated broadcast throughout that community before these publications. It did not seem to have affected either him or his business very materially, until it came out in the newspaper. Then when the facts which had been known to everyone were published in this newspaper from that moment it seems to have put a check upon his somewhat mild and mad career and, as he claims, damage has resulted to him. Consequently, in this particular case, the newspaper has served the public in a way that is very creditable to it and a protection to that community."

NEW STAMPS ARE NOW MADE PUBLIC

Postal Department Has Sent Notice of Changes To Be Effective This Year.

Postal changes have been announced to take place over the country during the coming year. Certain alterations have been made in the stamps, and slight reductions in the cost of wrappers. There are also some changes in the quality of paper to be used. Postmasters have been notified of the variation in this year's issue, but it is not probable that any of the new stamps will be seen for some time.

The same pictures will be used on the stamps, Franklin, Washington, Grant and Lincoln, on the one, two, four, and five centers, respectively, but the years of their birth and death will be indicated at the base of the stamp. The stamped envelopes will be unchanged from the issue of 1899 so far as the design is concerned.

A reduction in the price of the number six cent wrapper has been made from $11.00 per thousand to $10.65. A new two cent wrapper, eight by ten inches in size, and another ten by fifteen have also been issued.

The Coming Wife

The Baraboo News says the following warning to prospective bridegrooms:

"A girl who cannot make and bake bread, compound a pudding and wash and iron her own shirt-waist is a fraud upon young American womanhood," said Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, a former Baraboo pastor, before the National Housewives' association at their meeting at Chicago. "And you, mothers and housewives, are to blame for the common feeling of your daughters against kitchen service." This servant girl question is becoming more vital than trusts, tariff or anything else in the nation's category of unsettled things.

It affects the home and family, the most sacred institutions in the land, and has much to do with the unhappiness of the nation. The idea that kitchen work is menial must be corrected and the lessons must be begun at home, in every home." The speaker further expressed himself in favor of a large school of domestic science for girls to offset the manual training for boys.

If you love your wife, make it easy for her to get breakfast. Take home Mrs. Austin's Pancake Flour.

GROWTH OF RURAL DELIVERY SYSTEMS

Statistics in Fond du Lac County Show an Increase in Mail of Forty Per Cent.

The Daily Commonwealth of Fond du Lac on Monday last, published some interesting statistics relative to the growth of the rural free delivery service in Fond du Lac county, which will also apply to Rock county. The figures will bear close study for they speak in eloquent terms of the high appreciation which the farmers have for this service, which is yet in its infancy. They show that the increase in the number of pieces of mail handled on the four routes, going out from this city, was more than forty per cent, in a single year. A good share of the increase is due to the fact that the farmers are thus enabled to secure daily newspapers and have improved the opportunity. Instead of getting their mail once or twice a week, as formerly, they now receive it regularly every morning. The time heretofore lost in going to the postoffice may be employed in a manner to yield returns, a portion of it affording some leisure for the reading of daily newspapers and papers devoted to agriculture and other topics, all of which is in itself profitable.

With an increase in the patronage amounting to forty per cent, during a single year, it is easy to understand how the rural free delivery service, though involving a great expense at the present time and calling for larger appropriations each year, may yet become the course of self-supporting in the course of a little time. The policy of the administration to extend the service to every community that can possibly be reached, is, therefore, wise. The county system, through which this is to be accomplished, has already been established in a number of places, and the list is gradually being increased. Rock county, through the good offices of Postmaster Nowlan, assisted by Senator Spooner and Congressman Cooper, is on this favored list, and the manner in which the existing routes are being patronized, indicates that the move is a wise one.

A Paragraph
The New York Sun in commenting upon The Boston Ancient and Honorable Artillery says the following sentence that is worthy of notice:

"Still, in a sense, our trusty Ancients are an aristocracy. They are the fittest survivors. They are a combination form of elect and miraculous constitutions, much-enduring livers, hearts of oak, elastic and unconquerable insides. All rum is their province. All thirst is their business. All night is their specialty. All grape is their volley. All Sheol cannot frighten them when their paint is on and in. They are the greatest all-Scotch, all-Canadian, all-rye, all-hot-irish, magnum cum laude, never-say-die, no-heel-taps, care-killed-a-cat, we-won't-go-home-till-morning, set-'em-up-in-the-other-alley, all-punch-and-no-water, whoop-we-are-the-people, where-the-balls-fall-thickest, never-to-leave-off-team-in-the-world. What says the old rhyme?"

"I drink in the morning, I drink at noon.

The thirst in my stomach is such; I never can drink a drop too soon, Nor even a drop too much." "Not for mere pleasure, be it understood; but to keep the stuff away from weaker brethren. Yes, the Ancients are the Boston Aristocracy of Thirst."

DO NOT DOSE THE STOMACH

Cure Catarrh by Nature's Own Method—Every Breath of Hyomei Brings Relief.

Nearly every one who has catarrh knows how foolish it is to try and cure it by dosing the stomach. Temporary relief may be given, but a cure seldom comes.

Until recently your physician would have said the only way to cure catarrh would be to have a change of climate; but now with Hyomei you can carry a health giving climate in your vest pocket and by breathing it a few minutes four times a day soon cure yourself.

The complete outfit of Hyomei costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a lifetime, and there is enough Hyomei for more than a month's treatment of catarrh. If one bottle does not cure, an extra bottle of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents. It is the most economical of all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only one that follows nature in her method of treating diseases of the respiratory organs.

People's Drug Co. have sold hundreds of Hyomei outfits and the more they sell the more convinced they are that they are perfectly safe in guaranteeing to refund the money if Hyomei does not cure.

Those who are subject to catarrh or catarrhal colds will do themselves an injustice if they do not purchase a Hyomei outfit at once so as to be prepared for the sudden changes of the season. People's Drug Co.

FACTORY PROBABLY NOT TO COME HERE

Brick Concern Which Looked Over Janesville Field is Now Inspecting Fond du Lac.

The same Michigan concern which sent a representative to this city to look up the desirability of locating a factory for the manufacture of brick is now looking over the Fond du Lac field with the same object. The brick which is being made by the company is of sand and lime, and is said to be superior to the common clay brick. The great point to be considered by the concern in locating a new plant is the proximity in large quantities, convenient of access, of suitable sand. Samples were taken in this city, and the agent of the company when here, expressed himself as quite well satisfied with what he saw of the field. The fact that Fond du Lac is now being approached on the same project seems to indicate that his experiments with the sand did not prove suitable.

WHAT A NEWSPAPER IS

Under this caption the Marinette Eagle has a well worded, well expressed definition. The Gazette reprints the same and heartily approves of the sentiment expressed. It is just the facts that it has been trying to impress upon its readers for some time past and the Eagle seems to have been having the same trouble. The fact that a newspaper is as much a business as any merchant's seems to be clearly understood. Space has a money value to the owners of a paper the same as a bale of merchandise has to the merchant. Space is only the owner has to live by and it is only by the help of the advertiser that he is able each day to get out a paper that will give to the readers the news of the world and of the city. The Eagle's article appears below:

There is such a general misapprehension and misunderstanding among the people of what a newspaper is, that it is not out of place to state some facts that are well known and yet are little considered. Newspapers are nearly always the property of a man or of a few men who engage in the business as a merchant does in commerce. They have a policy as to the character of the news they publish, but generally aim to cater liberally to all classes in that department of the paper. Newspapers never "represent" any person except its owners, and the most hide bound "organ" does not represent but only conforms to a political party's platform. As stated, every paper with any standing has a policy which it adheres to, both editorially and in its business department. Primarily a paper is published to make money, and yet it is the rule which has few exceptions, that in this country the papers seldom condone the evil tendencies of the people or of any class, and at the worst simply ignore what they cannot, commercially speaking, antagonize. A very general mistake is made by the public in that it is often thought that a newspaper should abandon any political principle because at an election the voters had declared for some contrary idea. If the newspapers represented the people or presumed to do so, this would be a legitimate expectation, but it is based on false premises. The editorials advocating certain principles are the expressed opinions of the editors or owners of the paper in which they appear. As a democrat does not, and is not expected to, change his politics because his party is defeated at the polls, neither should it be expected that a newspaper should abandon its established policy because the political tide showed adverse sentiment. It is true that there are newspapers who do shift with each apparent change in public sentiment, but they are little regarded and less esteemed. A very common error, with the public at least in the smaller cities, is the idea that the newspaper wants "fillers." "You can put this in to help fill up, if you want to," is frequently told the reporter. Anyone familiar with newspaper work will know how little needed "fillers" are. There is always more news available than can be used, and the waste basket daily receives more than passes the blue pencil of the managing editor. The chief difficulty is in choosing from the mass "copy" which is at hand and to display it in the most attractive form and according to its proportionate interest. To many a newspaper is of little worth unless it continually mentions them or something related to them, seldom thinking that space has a money value and that nothing pays less than free advertising. The contention which usually exists between the business and reportorial ends of a newspaper office is the result of this continued effort of the public to obtain advertising by making it appear like news. Rigid rules are usually made, for the bars once down, a very deluge of such notices appear, which threaten the very existence of a paper because depriving it of a needed revenue. It is generally known that advertising is what supports a newspaper, and that the subscriptions usually barely pay for the paper that it is printed upon. Upon the size of the circulation is based the advertising rates, and that alone is what makes a large number of subscribers necessary.—Marinette Daily Eagle.

AMBITIOUS CANADA
Great expectations are forming in Canada, and apparently with good reason, with reference to the benefits to be derived from the new transcontinental railroad which the Grand Trunk people are planning to build across the northern part of the dominion. An idea of the vastness of the fact that while the line of the proposed road in general is 800 miles north of the Canadian Pacific, it is still only in the heart of the country and there is plenty of room in the sweet bye and bye for a third grade of steel to scrape the fringes of the Arctic.

Taken in connection with the road that the Clergue interests are building from the Soo north to Hudson's bay, which will open to settlement an empire of great fertility and possibility which is now little more than a wilderness, this new continental project portends an era of remarkable development in the northwest corner of our continent. Economically this development will be welcome to the American side of the border, since it means enlarged trade and increased opportunities for adventurous Yankee home-seekers willing to brave the perils of frontier life and the unpleasantness of expatriation pending the time when Canada shall have assumed her natural relationship under the Stars and Stripes. Politically it will mean more than ever a determined effort at Ottawa to establish the Canadian connection with reference to the boundary of Alaska and the realization of the recently awakened need of a Canadian water outlet from the Klondike region.

On this latter point American statesmanship must stand firm.

ECONOMY THE GOLD MINE

Evening Wisconsin: The assistant secretary of agriculture says that there is no excuse for the present extravagant price of meat. The corn crop is enormous—beyond all precedent—and that should produce cheap meat. If all the people of the United States, 80,000,000 in number, should abstain from eating meat for a single day, the price would topple at once. Economy is almost a fathomless resource when prices are unreasonably high.

Everybody now is practicing economy in fuel, and the results are marvelous. Notwithstanding the cold December, many householders think that they will get through the winter with less expense than usual for they are being taught that one bucket of coal, if wisely used, will prove as serviceable as two formerly. Economy, economy is the gold mine of nations. France, which is carrying the largest debt in the world, endures its great burden because it may almost be said with truth, that not a dollar of anything usable is wasted in France.

WORK AND BE HAPPY

The Oshkosh Northwestern comments on the Gazette's editorial of some days ago. We are glad to see that the Northwestern editor appreciates what the words mean and gladder still to see that the Northwestern has hopes of some day being happy. The work part we were assured of by a glance at the Northwestern's columns.

UP TO CONGRESS

Let republican congressmen and legislators generally remember that the only hopes left for the democracy are based upon the expectation of republican failure to execute the will of the people. If they follow where Roosevelt leads, there will be no failure.

THE CANAL

The Springfield Republican and some other journals are filled with alarm lest the commission which is to have charge of the building of the isthmian canal shall be made up of "lame duck" senators and politicians. They forget that Theodore Roosevelt is president.

SUGAR INDUSTRY

The New Orleans Picayune has an article on "The Termination of the Sugar Grinding Season." It has no reference, however, to the sugar grinding that has kept busy the molars of young America during holiday week.

Now Germany wants to get a hold on that Panama canal and then test the Monroe doctrine. Well, she can do so easier than pay forty million dollars for the chance to try the move. Just land a few marines down there and start a "bit of a ruction" and see how quick Uncle Sam will send that first class navy of his and that first class army down to stop you. This is not jingoism it is truth.

M. Giron who had a lot of free advertising owing to his running away with the crown princess of Saxony has been employed by a Paris newspaper to write "stuff" for them. The next thing we know some enterprising theatrical manager will hire the princess for an American tour.

Now comes the Chicago lawyers with their grand stand play to indict several millionaires charging them with having been the cause of all this scarcity of coal. They may be indicted but it will be next June before they are tried and then people won't care about last winter's coal.

The Marinette Star comments upon the veracity of the newspaper correspondent who said that fifty fishermen were washed out into Green Bay some days ago. The State evidently thinks that Marinette has not fifty fishermen and that the correspondent was a liar.

The young man who sold some property to a friend and then advised him to have some dead trees cut off, and on his agreeing hired a man to do so and obtained a half cord of wood for next summer's use is more than foxy. He is worthy of the name of financier.

Twelve men who tried to drive a mine manager from the state of Nevada met with reverses. Three were killed and three were badly wounded and two took to the tail timbers and four apologized. The mine manager is still in the state for a few days longer.

This is the week the fun begins at Madison. Luck to you Senator. The papers about this state have given you all sorts of abuse but Rock county showed clearly it approved of your actions last spring.

Sleepy old Philadelphia was waked up for a few moments on Saturday by the explosion of fifty tons of dynamite. Three Italian laborers were also waked up and have not come down yet, except in parts.

Right of way should be given to coal trains from the anthracite regions these days and everyone from the millionaire to the emigrant should laugh at delays that mean heat to thousands.

Admiral Dewey has declared that he never saw our navy in as fine a condition as it is now and that is saying something for Dewey knows what it is to be in first class shape.

China is losing its once vast tea trade by its growers refusing to follow the modern and improved methods of the modern tea men. India and Ceylon are the gainers.

Still the merry war of talk goes on about the city officials and soon perhaps there may be some smoke behind the scenes that will blaze into a conflagration that cannot be stopped.

As usual we learn that the orange crop in Florida is a failure but pretty soon will come up car load after car load of the yellow fruit as it always has done.

The Milwaukee Journal, it is understood, has a sandwagon on the streets of Milwaukee on a slippery day to show the people that they are the ones who own the earth.

Coal is up and wood is high and the railroads are careful that their engineers do not waste any fuel by throwing it off the cars so what is the poor junk man to do?

Now the crown princess of Saxony has refused to accept a settlement of $12,500 a year from her father-in-law. She wants more.

Strange as it may seem Janesville has not a first class team of bowlers that can beat Beloit. And Janesville has more saloons, too.

The largest article to be pawned was a half ton of coal by an ambitious Chicago bartender. This is pretty near the limit.

The farmer who has a big wood lot this winter has a gold mine right under his nose if he develops it.

Making babies go hungry for the good of their souls is a new version of cruelty to children.

They really do say that Medicine Hat is in the banana belt of Canada.

Chicago may have serious riots owing to the scarcity of coal.

PRESS COMMENT

Milwaukee News: The licks Gov. La Follette is putting in on his message indicate he intends to speak at length.

Fond du Lac Reporter: A Chicago man has invented a device to prevent snoring. It should be secured by sleeping car companies and furnished their patrons.

Menasha Breeze: "We get our days from the Norse, our months from the Roman, our letters from the Hindu, our numbers from the Hindu, and our manners, some of them, from goodness only knows where."

Madison Journal: Factional differences have not made the stalwarts forgetful of their manners. Judge Keyes, Senator Whitehead, Ira Bradford and others were early in line on Monday to pay their respects to the governor.

Republican Observer: For the first time in many years the familiar face of Mr. Hall, of Dunn county, will be missing from the legislative halls at Madison. Mr. Hall has been an assemblyman for many years but in the last campaign would not accept a re-nomination.

Whitewater Gazette: There will be no long contest over the election of a senator in Madison this year. The opposition to Spooner will be short if there is any opposition at all. If the extreme administration men are wise there will be no opposition at all.

La Crosse Press: Mr. Ellis B. Usher has become interested in another line of business and his bright political articles in the Milwaukee Journal have stopped, at least temporarily. They were probably the most readable and most fearless literature printed in this state in the last two years.

Baraboo Republic: Persons who have criticised Pres. Castro for repudiating the debts will hold out the right hand of fellowship to him after they pay taxes and fuel bills. It is evident that our South American neighbor had looked over the assessor's books and interviewed the coal dealer early in the game.

Eau Claire Telegram: Both tax reform and the primary election law will be up for discussion in the coming legislature. And much general good may be accomplished along these lines, if the subjects are discussed in all fairness on both sides, and each meets the other in a spirit of consideration and pays tribute to the mental capacity of both the friends and foes of these measures.

Elkhorn Enterprise: And so with all other "calamities" there is danger of a whiskey famine! Only four million gallons of whiskey in and the dealers are alarmed. Have to resort to logwood and alcohol, or, best of all, go without. But if the whiskey should be exhausted, which is too good news to be true, there are many old parched throats, whose owners will wish they had jumped on to the water wagon on New Year's day.

State Journal: The Social Union, club of Janesville discussed municipal reform at its monthly meeting on Tuesday and the affairs of the prosperous little city on the river were shown to be in a bad way. Extravagance and the expenditure of public money without authority of law were harped against the officials. Senator Whitehead placed the responsibility for the undesirable state of things upon the citizens who he said were not giving the proper attention to the business management of the city.

The French Army. The Gazette of the French Ministry of War shows that from Nov. 1, 1902, to Oct. 31, 1903, the French army will consist of all able-bodied men born between Jan. 1, 1857, and Dec. 31, 1881.

The First Woman Minister. One of the mourners at the funeral of Elizabeth Cady Stanton was the first woman ordained as a minister in this country—Mrs. Antoinette Louisa Brown Blackwell, of Henrietta, N. Y.

Clever Street Signs. Some of the artistic street signs now on exhibition in Paris are clever. One of them is by Gerome, who exhibits a sign for an optician's shop. It represents a Yorkshire terrier standing on his hind legs and wearing eyeglasses. It bears the label "O p'ticien," which is a good French pun for "Oh, little dog."

Miser Leaves a Fortune. Eli Hyman, a Toronto miser, who followed the profession of a street beggar, died last week, leaving $100,000 in money. He had no home and slept wherever chance happened to afford him a bed. He had no known relatives, and his money will revert to the state.

New Life-Saving Device. The United States navy has adopted an illuminated life-saving buoy so arranged that as it is released a couple of bright lights, about 2 feet high, are ignited and remain burning for a considerable time. It will be a very useful contrivance in the dark.

TALKED OF THE COMING MONTHS

TRINITY'S RECTOR SPOKE AT CHRIST CHURCH SUNDAY.

PREPARATION FOR MISSION

Referred to the Duties for This Year—Casting Off Things
Which Are Behind.

Rev. J. A. M. Richey, rector of Trinity church, addressed Christ church Sunday morning in a sermon which was intended to pave the way for the mission of the two churches, conducted by the Holy Cross Fathers, which is to begin in a short time. It took the form of a general review of the past year, and a forward glance to the months which are to come.

This look into the future involved a discussion of the religious duties of each person, and so naturally led to an invitation to all to attend the services. A few sentences, referring to the aims which should be upheld during this year, are quoted.

Purpose For New Year
"We could not set before ourselves a higher object, nor choose for the New Year a more timely resolution than the furtherance of this mighty and merciful purpose of God—to gather together all things in Christ."

To Labor in Vineyard
"Then let us unite ourselves this year to God in his purpose to gather together all things in Christ."

"As co-workers with God and as fellow laborers with those who are set over us in the Lord, let us work in the vineyard that we may gather in a good harvest for our Gracious Householder."

"If we are to do this faithfully and wisely, and in any sense completely, it must be by being found faithful in all the details which make up our individual lives, and by gathering together all of these things in Christ Jesus. So that whatever we do it may in some sense be done as unto the Lord, may in some sense illustrate the two great commandments—the love of God, and the love of our neighbors."

Prospect For 1903
"Then, prospecting those things which are behind and looking out upon the prospect of another year of grace, let us consider that the incarnate Son of God has stopped to behold the things which are in heaven and earth, not only to make us the sons of God, but to impart his benediction upon all those pursuits and duties which make up the earthly side of our lives."

"It is this consideration which makes it so essential that in all of our duties we should be found honest and faithful, that they may be wrought in God and gathered together in Christ."

"For, the 'Man Christ Jesus' is the man of all the world, and of every department of life."

ICE HARVESTING STARTED TODAY

City Company Began Cutting This Afternoon—Ice Thick and of Good Quality.

The cold snap of the last few days has put the ice on the river in first-class condition, and the annual harvest began this morning. Owing to the mass of snow which covered the ice and had to be scraped off before operations could be commenced, the cutting did not begin until this afternoon. The ice is nearly fifteen inches thick and is of a good clear quality. The City Ice Co. has a full force of men at work above the railroad bridge and was begun filling the lower houses, before beginning to pack in those farther up the river.

J. E. Inman of the Crystal Lake Ice company says that the harvest at Crystal Lake has been under way for about a week past. A small army of about six hundred men are employed, many coming out from Chicago each day. Even with that number the company has not as many men as it could utilize. The ice is about sixteen inches thick and even cake is scraped of snow and slush to twelve inches in thickness.

He began his work this morning, going over all branches of work which are being carried on. He expects to be hurried here until Tuesday afternoon. While in the city Mr. Doty is stopping at the Grand.

Chapman et al and the State of Wisconsin vs. Wm. Byrne. The first three are cases in which Judge Dunwiddie had been interested and the Byrne case was sworn away from him. All of the cases except the Byrne case are for trial by jury. The jury summoned for the December term are excused until today will try the cases.

Up to three o'clock Judge Dick had not arrived he having been delayed by a break down near Jefferson Junction on the Northwestern.

CAPTURED FOUR PRIZES

E. N. Fredendall's Chickens Proved
Winners At Delavan

E. N. Fredendall may well feel proud of the fine showing his barred Plymouth rock chickens made last week at the Southern Wisconsin Poultry association show held in the city of Delavan. Mr. Fredendall's birds were in the strongest class, there being over 1,500 chickens exhibited from all portions of the country.

Four expert poultry judges were on hand with pens of barred rocks. In spite of this fact Mr. Fredendall carried away the first prize on "cockrels" as well as the first prize on hens. He also secured second prizes on cock and pullet. For years Mr. Fredendall has been breeding the barred Plymouth rock and his strain at his Garfield avenue home in this city today the superior of any in this section of the country. Some choice stock is now to be had at his pens and at all times visitors are most welcome.

FOREST CITY POLICE DISAGREE

Rockford's Merchant Force Objects
To Long Hours of Duty

Rockford's four merchant police have become involved in a disagreement with the chief of police as to their hours of duty, and the necessity of wearing uniforms all of the time. The men believe that all that is necessary is for them to be on their beats, in regulation garb, during the hours from 8:00 p. m. to 6 a. m. Chief Barker says that the hours of watch should be constant. A meeting was held to discuss the question but it led to no decision.

On a Cash Basis.

A La Crosse (Wis.) clergyman is said to have refused to minister further to his congregation until his arrears of salary are paid, thus demonstrating that, while salvation is free, sermons along with most other things in this weary, wicked world are on a cash basis.

JANESVILLE MEN ARE INTERESTED

IN THE MANUFACTURERS' ASSO-CIATION OF WISCONSIN.

V. P. RICHARDSON AN OFFICER

J. A. Craig Gave One of the Principal
Papers at the Meeting in Milwaukee.

Although the manufacturers of nearly every other state in the union have been bound together by some form of organization, those of Wisconsin never perfected, or attempted to perfect an association for mutual protection and advancement, until Friday of last week. Resulting from the meeting, which assembled at the Hotel Pfister and at the rooms of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association was formed with a membership roll of seventy of the leading manufacturers of the state.

D. K. Jeffris, representing the Jeffris Lumber company; J. A. Craig, and A. P. Lovejoy, of the Janesville Machine company; and Don Farnsworth of the Hough Porch Shade corporation, were the Janesville gentlemen who attended the conference, and enrolled their names.

F. K. Bull of Racine, who has from the first been leader of the movement toward organization, was appropriately nominated for the presidency, and a Janesville manufacturer, Mayor V. P. Richardson, was honored with the vice presidency.

A. P. Lovejoy was chosen a member of the executive board. Mr. Bull was in the city a few weeks ago to consult with the manufacturers.

J. A. Craig presented one of the principal papers before the body. He had been given the topic, "Our Relations With Canada." He pointed out indications which warrant the assertion that the country to the north of us will experience a wonderful development in the next decade. In view of the great ill which Canada offers for more pleasant trade relations, he urged the advantage of reciprocity, referring to the steps toward encouraging more satisfactory conditions in that direction which have already been taken by the manufacturers of Minnesota.

In his address to the gentlemen present, President Bull set forth a series of arguments opposing the taxation of railroads. He laid especial stress on the fact that the railroads would continue to ask as great profit as they are now receiving, and if their taxes become a more appreciable element they would be moved to equalize them by raising freight rates. This would act directly upon the manufacturers, whom he urged to oppose the creation of a railroad commission.

FIFTEEN DOLLARS FOR TON OF COAL

Anthracite Prices Take Another Leap
This Morning—Few Yards
Can Supply It.

Fifteen dollars per ton is the price that is now asked by the coal dealers for anthracite by the ton. Even at that only a few yards have it for sale. The increase in the listing went into effect this morning. Saturday evening the Badger Drug company's list for J. F. Spoon & Co. rated anthracite at $12. Today the same list proclaims its value as $15. As a matter of fact the company has taken no orders for three days, the visible supply being exhausted.

Other dealers are in no better condition. The Janesville Coal company, in response to an inquiry in regard to the price of anthracite, refused to make a quotation for a commodity which they could not supply. The Badger Coal Co. is also entirely cleaned out.

Several bins have been empty for many days. One company received a few tons last week, and it was sold almost before it was unloaded from the cars. The prospect of receiving more is no better than it has been for some time past.

Notice!

FIRST ACCIDENT ON INTERURBAN

CAR RUNS OFF TRACK AT THE CUT.

WRECKING CREW AT WORK

The Railways Also Suffered from
Both the Snow and Extreme Cold Weather.

The first mishap on the Rockford, Beloit and Janesville electric road since the line between Janesville and Beloit was completed occurred this morning near the cut under the Northwestern road south of the Choate-Hollister factory.

The car due here at seven o'clock jumped the track on a curve at that point and by the time that the motorman brought it to a stop the hind trucks were completely off the track and the trolley pole was broken.

Caused By Snow
The accident was caused by the snow blowing onto the track and freezing to the rails which let the flanges of the car wheels slip off while rounding the curve. The conductors of the car went to the nearest telephone and notified the officials at Beloit who at once dispatched a wrecking crew to the scene.

A Hard Task
It was no easy job to get the car back onto the track as it weighs thirty-five tons and is an awkward thing to handle. The wrecking crew did not get the car back onto the track until after noon and in the meantime traffic was suspended between Janesville and Beloit.

Hinders Traffic
The snow yesterday interfered considerably with the Janesville street railway. They kept a crew of men at work all day keeping the tracks open and after it stopped snowing were able to run all right.

Railroads Suffer
The railroads suffered from the snow and the train crews running north from Janesville on the Northwestern say last night was one of the worst they ever experienced. It was bitter cold and the snow drifted onto the tracks and froze so that it was almost impossible for an engine to run through it. Some of the freights with two engines, the front one with a snow plow to clear the track had all they could do to get over the road. Several trains with only one engine pulling them got stalled in the drifts while following close after trains with the snow plows.

Track Bad
The north and south tracks were in worse shape than those running east and west and the Northwestern had more trouble than the St. Paul. The Northwestern train due here at 9:35 a. m. was reported about three hours late, being delayed by a freight wreck north of Madison.

People Suffering
The railroads are not the only sufferers on account of the cold and snow, the scarcity and high price of coal has caused no end of suffering among the poor and also among others who were unable to get fuel.

FILIPINOS WANT TAFT TO REMAIN

NATIVES PRAISE THE OFFICIAL

Declare His Presence in the Islands Is Necessary to Preserve Order, Prevent Political Disruption and Insure the Present Policy.

Manila, Jan. 12.—The general regret of the Filipino people at the possible departure of Gov. Taft resulted in a popular demonstration for the purpose of urging the governor to remain in the islands. The streets of Manila have been placarded with signs saying "We want Governor Taft." In English, Tagalog and Spanish. A crowd of 8,000 men marched to Malacanang palace, the governor's residence, where speeches were made by representatives of the federal, liberal and nationalist parties, in which the governor was urged to remain. The speakers said Mr. Taft's presence was necessary to preserve order, for the prevention of political disruption and to insure the maintenance of the present policy. The speakers paid personal tributes to the governor, the crowd cheering its approval.

Cheer the Governor.

In replying to the addresses Gov. Taft said it would not be decided at present whether he would leave the islands or remain until next August. He assured the people that if he did leave the present policy of the American government would suffer no change, it being not a question of the individual, but of national policy.

After the speeches the thousands of natives who filled the grounds of the palace broke into a cheer for the governor.

After the Ladrone.

There has been an outbreak of banditism in the province of Albay, southern Luzon. A large force is now pursuing the bandits, and additional constabulary have been dispatched to the province.

The fleet under Admiral Evans has been at target practice in Manila bay. The battleship Kentucky fired her 13-inch guns. The reports of the practice have not been completed, but the average of hits is believed to have been high.

BULL FIGHTER FATALLY GORED

VICTIM IS NOTED IN SPAIN

One Horn Enters Groin of the Injured Man, Who, the Doctors Say, Cannot Survive—Many Americans Attend the Bloody Exhibition.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 12.—Francisco Mattillera of Madrid, the most noted banderillero of Spain, was caught on the horns of a monster wild bull in the Juarez bull ring and fatally gored. Five thousand persons, half of them Americans, saw the tragedy.

A company of bull fighters engaged especially for the El Paso midwinter carnival gave a performance in the Juarez bull ring, just across the river. They had advertised to kill three bulls. The same of Senor Francisco Mattillera, the daring banderillero, attracted thousands of persons from El Paso to the fight. The first two bulls turned into the amphitheater proved indifferent fighters, and Mattillera played with them, to the disgust of the spectators.

Bull Is Fierce.

The third bull was a monster, wild and full of fight. In his first charge around the arena he unseated both of the picadors, and dashing at one of their horses, caught the animal under the stomach and tossed him twenty-five feet. The angry bull then faced Mattillera, who was coming toward him, tauntingly waving a banderilla.

The infuriated beast accepted the challenge, and uttering a bellow, charged with lowered head. Mattillera stood his ground until the beast was on him, then stepped to one side and planted the banderilla in the animal's neck as he swept by.

Is Tossed in the Air.

The spectators were on their feet cheering, when the bull turned and made another rush at his antagonist, caught him against the fence, and, driving a horn through the man's thigh, tossed him high into the air.

The banderillero, coming down, fell on the bull's horns and was fearfully gored. On striking the ground he rolled under a plank, and the bull turned to scatter the other fighters, who were swarming around him. Mattillera was taken from the ring unconscious. The doctors say he cannot live. One horn entered his groin.

PRESIDENT HAS NOT INTERFERED

BELIEVES IT AN UNWISE MOVE

Roosevelt Has Stated That the Presence of an Apostle in the Upper House Would Be Likely to Provoke Criticism of the Church.

Washington, Jan. 12.—It can be authoritatively stated that the president has not upon any occasion expressed the opinion that a Mormon should not be elected to the United States senate. The president has upon several occasions been asked to give his views on the situation in Utah, but has refrained from going any farther than to say that in his judgment the interests of the Mormon church would not be best served by sending one of its twelve apostles to the senate.

Would Cause Antagonism.
The president has frankly discussed the matter with whoever sought his opinion, but has always done so from the standpoint of the welfare of the Mormon church. The presence of a Mormon apostle in official life under the public eye would, he thinks, provoke antagonism and adverse sentiment that would result in no good to the church. The president's attitude can be well illustrated by saying that, with regard to the Mormon church, it is the same as though he expressed the opinion that Episcopalians in electing a United States senator should not select Bishop Potter.

Delay Smoot's Election.
Dispatches from Salt Lake say that the opposition to Apostle Reed Smoot in the Utah legislature is taking definite shape and that the indications are that a strong fight will be made before he is elected. His opponents are seeking delay in the hope that something may develop to prevent his election, and have so far succeeded in preventing the appointment by the senate of a committee to arrange a joint caucus with the house, which is strongly for Smoot.

MR. TONGUE IS DEAD.

Expires Suddenly From Severe Attack of Indigestion.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Representative Tongue of Oregon died here after an illness of only an hour or two. He complained of a slight attack of indigestion, but refused to permit his daughter to summon a physician. The attack grew so severe that simple remedies were administered, and before Mr. Tongue realized his serious condition he was beyond the aid of medical skill. Death was caused by acute indigestion, producing paralysis of the heart. The death of Mr. Tongue will probably keep in public life Binger Hermann, who will at the end of this month retire as commissioner of the general land office. Mr. Hermann was defeated for congress by Mr. Tongue several years ago, and has recently been training for the United States senate, but it is understood that he has given up these aspirations, and will become a candidate to succeed Mr. Tongue.

At his bedside when the end came were his daughters. Mrs. Tongue is in Hillsboro, Mr. Tongue's Oregon home, and to that place the remains will be taken for interment. A congressional committee will be appointed to escort the remains.

OPPOSE CUBAN PACT.

Michigan Beet Sugar Men Are Hostile to Treaty.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Representatives of the beet sugar industry of Michigan have been in conference in this city not only among themselves and other beet sugar producers from other states, but also with the Michigan delegation in Congress. Senator Burrows, who last spring opposed the Cuban legislation then pending, has been prominent in the conferences.

Senator Burrows had a long interview with President Roosevelt, during which, it is understood, he indicated to him that the Cuban reciprocity treaty now pending in the Senate was not satisfactory to the beet sugar interests of his state, and that it was likely to encounter serious opposition unless it could be so amended as to provide that the concessions made to Cuba as to tariff rates should remain in force for five years. After mature consideration of the treaty the Michigan sugar producers had concluded that the treaty was open to objection in that it did not insure stability of tariff rates for any clearly specified period. What the producers chiefly desire is stability of rates, which would enable them to put additional capital in their industry and develop it further with some assurance of success.

BANKRUPTCY LAW.

Senate Committee Favors House Bill With Amendments.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The senate judiciary committee has authorized a favorable report on the bill passed by the house last session for the amendment of the bankruptcy law. A number of amendments were adopted, but these relate in the main to details of administration. There were some changes in the provision relating to preferences.

As the bill was reported it will require restitution to be made only where creditors have received preferences fraudulently, and not in cases where they have been received in the ordinary course of business. The provision relating to taxes on homesteads was changed so as to protect the owner. There also were a number of changes in the provisions relating to fees. In general the house increased the fees under existing laws to the extent of about 100 per cent, but the senate committee reduced the increase about one-half.

Seek to Aid Veterans.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The committee on legislation of the Grand Army of the Republic has been in session at the Ebbitt House since Thursday. It considered mainly pending legislation for aid to veterans in seeking appointments to the public service. A subcommittee was appointed, consisting of Chairman Joseph W. Kay, New York, and George H. Patrick, Alabama, and they visited the President and Postmaster General Friday in the interest of legislation to prefer those who served the Union in the army or navy in the civil war in appointments, retentions, or promotions in the public service over other persons. The committee has returned home satisfied with the results of its efforts.

Cramps' Bid Is Lowest.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The board of construction of the navy department has submitted to Secretary Moody its recommendations that the bid of William Cramp & Sons for the construction of the cruisers Tennessee and Washington be accepted. The bid, which was the lowest submitted, was $4,000,000 for each cruiser, to be completed in thirty-six and thirty-nine months respectively. The board recommends that the firm's bid of $35,000 each for installing electric plants in the new ships be accepted.

Admiral Melville Is Retired.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Rear Admiral George W. Melville, chief of the bureau of steam engineering, has been placed on the retired list of the navy, having reached the age limit of 62 years. Special authority granted by congress has been invoked, however, to enable Admiral Melville to continue his services at the head of the bureau until his commission expires, Aug. 9, 1903. Admiral Melville was appointed to the navy from New York in July, 1861.

Minister Carbo Recalled.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Senator Don Luis Felipe Carbo, minister of Ecuador to the United States, has presented to the president his letters of recall. His successor will be Alfredo Baquerizo. Senator Carbo has represented Ecuador at this capital since Jan. 15, 1896.

HARRY DANIEL'S MINOR OBSERVATIONS

Copyright, 1902, by Harry Daniel

THE ECCENTRICITIES OF KING ALFONSO.

VERY few days pass that we do not learn of some new eccentricity that has been developed by Alfonso, the boy king of Spain, who never seems to be quite so happy and full of jocularly as when he is wearing out a bed-slat or a chair-rung over the head of some prominent and influential member of his cabinet or official family.

It is always interesting to study the eccentricities of royal persons, and it is especially interesting when the person in question happens to be a mere boy who has to fold up a newspaper and lay it inside the sweatband of his crown so that it will not slip down over his ears, but who, notwithstanding his youth, has all the eccentricities of a careworn and morbid man with inflammatory rheumatism and an overdose of sons-in-law.

Although Alfonso is less than 17 years of age and though he has been on the throne but a few months he has succeeded in cultivating a set of eccentricities that other monarchs have striven years to attain. Combining, as he does, his divine right of absolute authority with the urbane and sunny disposition of a mule with a sore tail, he has already succeeded in establishing a reputation for eccentricity that has removed the sox from any character that has up to this moment been able to creep into history.

One of his quaintest and most interesting eccentricities is his style of conversation. When he is spoken to by those about him he may reply in the clear, ringing tones of a man who is suffering with a torpid liver and an ingrowing mortgage or he may reply with a piece of parlor furniture or the dictionary. One of the best times to study the eccentricities of this young ruler is during his cabinet meetings, as will be seen by some of the current reports on the topic:

"Another interesting meeting of the cabinet was held this morning which came to a conclusion only when his majesty ran out of furniture with which to argue his points. He made a speech with a broom-handle across the short ribs of the secretary of the interior that left a lasting impression on all and a welt under the vest of the secretary.

"His majesty also addressed the secretary of agriculture with a rocking chair, and he made a remark to the attorney general with the hind leg of a center table that time and again alone can efface.

"During the session the secretary of war took occasion to ask his majesty a question in regard to some matter of state, and he was so overcome by the reply that he had to be wheeled out of the room in an invalid's chair.

"When the session was dismissed, the minister of foreign relations was seen wearing a new pink and blue epigram about three inches below the left eye, while the secretary of state had to be helped out of the room by the janitor on account of a patriotic utterance which the king made to him with the butt end of his scepter."

"This afternoon the commissioner of pensions called upon the king in regard to some matters connected with his department. During the conversation, the king said something to him with a Windsor chair, immediately after which the commissioner left the room through a side window, taking part of it with him.

"The remark took effect a little to the north and west of the solar plexus. The commissioner stated some hours afterward that he was sorry he had left the room in such a rude and hurried manner. He said that he happened to be standing just in front of the window at the time the king made the remark and that it so affected him that he found it necessary to lean against something. So he leaned backward about 11 feet against the solid ground outside."

And so it goes from day to day with those who are thrown in contact with the eccentric young King of Spain.

In this country it is rather hard to imagine a condition such as exists in the Spanish palace. It is hard for us to imagine a boy of 17 wielding a scepter, no matter how carefully he may handle it, and it is especially difficult for us to imagine him yanking it around the way Alfonso does, wielding it across the nose of the postmaster general one moment and behind the ear of his confidential advisor the next.

Of course, we believe in firmness, and we recognize the fact that there is no place, perhaps, where so much firmness is needed to the cubic inch as upon the throne of a great nation.

Still, we believe that Alfonso, at times, goes too far. We believe he would get along better if he used more kindness with the members of his cabinet.

It is always easier to rule a man with kindness than with a piece of two-inch scantling. A man will do pretty nearly anything for another if treated kindly, but he will sometimes show more or less reluctance about doing a man a favor after he has been hit across the brow with a stove-poker seven or eight times.

There are, of course, exceptions to this rule. There are some men in the world with whom kindness does not have the desired effect, and they seem to do better if they are encouraged from time to time with the flat side of a single-tree. Too much kindness has a tendency to make them inactive and sluggish and lose interest in their general surroundings. Gentle, sylphlike words do not seem to inspire them to press ever on in life's unending struggle quite as much as a caress over the head occasionally with the firm end of a hickory club.

As a rule, however, men of this kind are seldom detected breaking into the cabinet of any great nation. They generally show great tact and skill in eluding positions of this kind. As a rule, we believe men who succeed in getting themselves appointed to a cabinet position are men upon whom kindness has a more satisfactory effect than a welt first with one thing and then with another.

Take, for instance, in our own cabinet. We do not believe President Roosevelt could accomplish very much if he were to open the cabinet meeting every morning by pulling out a handful of whiskers from the chin of Secretary Wilson or by smashing a chair over the head of Secretary Hay.

If the wheel had begun to sprout in the shock in some parts of Ohio or if the rust had begun working in the timothy in North Dakota, we believe the president could accomplish more if he would take Mr. Wilson to one side and tell him gently but firmly that he would have to try and do a little better hereafter, than if he were to soak him over the head with a bound volume of the census report of 1900.

We do not know Mr. Wilson personally, but it is our idea that if our crops got into bad shape and our gooseberries began to sour before we could get them harvested, he would feel like doing a great deal more for us if we talked to him in a kind and gentle tone of voice than if we undertook to interview him with the hoe handle or a half-inch halter rope with a knot in it.

Any man, if he does have to make his living by working in the cabinet, will do better, we believe, if treated kindly than if knocked silly every few moments by a monkey-wrench in the hands of the administration.

Of course, King Alfonso is young yet, and, perhaps, as he grows older he will learn some of these things.

And, perhaps, too, some morning while he is delivering a fluent and eloquent oration with a set of dining-room furniture, some member of his cabinet will arise with a pink flush behind his ears, and, in an untought and unpatriotic moment, grasp the haughty young ruler in his strong arms, hang him in a vertical position across his knee, and then fill the executive chamber so full of dust and high treason and suppressed sobs and lese majesty and ruined pants buttons that the executive department of the Spanish government will decide to postpone all official business for the remainder of the day.

The Way in Japan.

A traveler in Japan says: "I stood on the Tokyo platform holding a six-inch cube of birdseed wherein perched a small canary. The last train which could carry me to my steamer at Yokohama was about to leave, but without me, it appeared. I was in charge of a live animal—that animal must be separately booked and placed in a special compartment allotted to cattle, sheep, tigers, birds, or anything that breathed, not human. A little Japanese girl standing by laughed, whipped out some pieces of rich paper, fastened them around the cage; and behold, I had only a parcel now. But my train had gone. The little maid, with frank hospitality, took me to her mother's home and gave me tea, and I caught the belated steamer after all."—Cleveland Leader.

Apoplexy, Not Cramp.
A long-distance swimmer, correcting popular errors, stated that accidents to swimmers are seldom due to cramp, but to apoplexy resulting from sudden cooling. The sinking three times is a curious error, as some persons swallow water and struggle on first immersion, sinking at once, while others may sink and rise 50 times. The author has saved 65 lives, and he has found that the drowning person cannot be stunned by a blow in the face, but that he can be handled by pressing the thumbs under the ears and ducking his head until manageable, this being done from behind.—Chicago Chronicle.

DAVID DAVIES IS CALLED BY DEATH

He Passed Away Sunday Morning, After a Long Illness with Creeping Paralysis.

David Davies, for many years one of this city's most prominent residents and business men, died Sunday morning at ten o'clock at the home of his brother, E. H. Davies, 109 North Academy street. Death resulted from creeping paralysis from which Mr. Davies had been a sufferer for the past eighteen months. During his long illness he was cared for tenderly at the home of his brother and for some time past he had been confined to his bed.

Deceased was past sixty-nine years of age, having been born near Rome, N. Y., October 2, 1822. He came to Janesville in January, 1859 and has made his home in this city ever since. For nearly thirty years he was engaged in the grocery business, retiring from active business life in 1888. He was in prosperous circumstances and owned considerable property.

Mr. Davies always took the keenest interest in public affairs and in the city's prosperity. From 1874 until 1880 he served in the common council as alderman from the first ward. He was widely known as a clever practical joker and few of his friends escaped his ready wit and inventive genius. Mr. Davies was held in high esteem by his fellow citizens and his passing away will be sincerely regretted.

Deceased leaves one brother, E. H. Davies and one sister, Mrs. M. E. Tenney of Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands. Mrs. Tenney has been in the city for several months and has assisted in caring for her brother.

Funeral services will be held from the home, 109 North Academy street, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Bucklin
After eight years of suffering with valvular weakness of the heart, Mrs. H. Maria Bucklin, wife of B. M. Bucklin, died Sunday morning at her home, 102 Milton avenue.

The deceased was in her sixteenth year, being born in Candia, Rockingham county, N. H., July 9, 1843. She had resided in this city for many years and her death will be deeply mourned by a large circle of friends. Besides her husband she leaves one son, Oscar W. Bucklin.

Funeral services will be held from the home on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Robert C. Denison officiating.

Mrs. Anna Handley
As the result of a fall sustained two weeks ago, Mrs. Anna Handley died at her home, 154 South Main street on Sunday evening at 9:30 o'clock. Deceased was seventy-three years of age and had only resided in this city a short time. She came here the first of December from Savannah, N. Y., with her son, Henry, who is in the employ of the Hough Porch Shade company. Two weeks ago last Friday she fell, breaking her hip and being encumbered by old age she was unable to withstand the shock. Her remains will be taken to her former home in Savannah for interment.

John Ballmann
After an illness of barely fifteen minutes' duration, John Ballmann, aged sixty-five years, died at nine o'clock this morning at the home of his son, Henry Ballmann, in the town of Harmony. He leaves two children, Henry, with whom he was living, and Mrs. Charles Wussow of Edgerton. A notice of the funeral will be given later.

Clarence Thomas
The remains of the late Clarence Thomas arrived in the city on Saturday night from Milwaukee. The funeral was held this afternoon from the cemetery chapel at Oak Hill. Rev. W. W. Warner officiated.

John Butler, a notorious Tory, knowing this, arranged for an Indian attack upon the unprotected women and children to be made by the Seneca Indians and a number of Tories. Col. But the defense was futile and hundreds of the inhabitants of the valley were put to death.

The Privileges of Royalty.

Contrary to etiquette, a court carriage in which the Archduke Otto was driving was overtaken and passed by a motor car driver at Vienna. The latter has since been put under arrest for twenty-four hours for furious driving.

Following the discovery as announced in the New York Times that Professor Marekwald of Berlin had discovered a new metal which emitted invisible light radiations comes the announcement from Paris that there is in the study of these new metals the possibility of aid to the blind. It has been found that many substances emit active rays—in fact, that a majority of the common objects about us store up sunlight during the day and emit the rays at night.

Special substances, such as the salts of uranium, from which many new metals have been eliminated, such as polonium, radium, actinium, thorium, etc., emit certain active radiations which apparently are not the result of stored sunlight, for they are active when found at the bottom of the deepest mines before sunlight has reached them.

And now these radiations, which, like X rays, are able to penetrate opaque substances, are to be used to test the condition of the interior of the eye when disease or accident has rendered the surface opaque. For instance, it sometimes happens that back of a cataract the condition of the eye is hopeless, and yet without knowledge of this operations are performed, only to prove useless. The metals obtained from uranium are very powerful projectors of light. It has been computed that the velocity of the rays which shoot away from these substances is half as fast as that of light, or 92,500 miles a second, and yet the waste is so small that the loss from a square centimeter of surface would be infinitesimal, or something like a milligram in 1,000,000,000 years.

The rays, like X rays, also act powerfully on the human body, producing an effect much like the so-called X ray burns. A vital full of uranium salts carried in the pocket for a short time has been known to produce a redness of the skin, followed by a severe soreness which lasted for weeks and was difficult to heal.

Now come M. and M. Curk, the French scientists who discovered some of the metals and who are carrying on a series of experiments to determine the value of the metals in relation to eye disease. They are being assisted by the distinguished French ophthalmologist Javal, who is blind and is therefore intensely interested in the subject. Javal's blindness is the result of chronic glaucoma, for which every cure known to science was tried in vain. He has taken up the new metals in the hope that relief may be obtained.

BELOIT WILL TALK ON NEGATIVE SIDE

Has Made Decision for Annual Debate with Knox College, to Occur in April.

Beloit college sent a notification to Knox college on Saturday that the college would take the negative side of the question which Knox before the holidays offered as the subject of the annual debate between the two schools. The question is an old one, although restated so as to limit and define the discussion. In effect it is as follows:

"Resolved, That it would be for the interests of the people for the cities of the United States of over 100,000 people to own and control the street railways, lighting plants and water works system, rather than to continue indefinitely under the present franchise system."

"It is agreed in this debate that municipal ownership and operation shall begin immediately on the expiration of the present franchise."

O. E. Maurer, who won the interstate oratorical contest last year, and was a member of the victorious Knox debate team the same year, will lead Beloit's forces in the coming debate. The Knox men have not yet been selected for the contest which will be held at Galesburg, Ill., near the end of April.

Stupid Husband of a Noted Singer.

Catalani's husband, a handsome Frenchman, was even more unimpeachable than his wife—he was stupid. Once, having found the pitch of the piano too high, she said after the rehearsal to her husband: "The piano is too high. Will you see that it is made lower before the concert?"

When the evening came, Catalani was annoyed to find that the piano had not been altered. Her husband sent for the carpenter, who declared that he had sawed off two inches from each leg, as he had been ordered to do. "Surely it can't be too high now, my dear!" said the stupid husband soothingly.

Moral in Temperance Lecture.

The latest temperance lecture is involved in the story of the aged man at Soda Point, N. Y., who, wishing a little stimulant, went out into the woods where the hard cider barrel was kept, and mistaking a cup of ice for elder, drank nearly all of it before he discovered his error. Some people, however, may think that the moral is to "stop and enjoy the taste."

Hats in London.

No stranger can do business in London without a silk hat. It is the style from Monday to Saturday to wear this kind of head covering, with a frock coat, and on Sunday to appear in a "boulder" (the conventional Derby) and a sack. Cutaways are much worn with silk hats, and not infrequently dressy men are seen in the outlandish combination of silk hat and sack.

For Comfort in 'Cycling.

The latest invention is a combined umbrella and fan for the cycle. The canopy is made in the form of an ordinary umbrella and is fitted with blades, which as the cycle speeds along, catch the air and rotate the apparatus.

INDUSTRY TO MEET FASHION'S DEMANDS

Attention Being Given the Raising of Fur Bearing Animals as a Business.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press makes a plea for the fur and feather that are being worn so extensively by the ladies. They place arguments in good plain language and state facts that are both interesting and also instructive to the persons who are interested in the fads and fashions of woman-kind.

Furs of all kinds now command such prices that it is natural that a good deal of attention should be given to the propagation of fur-bearing animals, under protection, as a business. The extent in which such industries may be carried on is probably much greater than is popularly imagined; though the lessons learned in the states which have offered bounties for the destruction of wolves—only to find that wolf breeders could keep up the supply of such animals in any number, so long as the state treasury could supply the dollars to pay for their scalps—should have been sufficient to awaken a better appreciation of the possibilities. It is found that the beaver will readily return to its old haunts, and multiply faster in the presence of civilization than it did when the Indian set his traps. So with the mink, the otter, and the muskrat. They used only to be protected from the slaughter by others than their breeder to make their propagation profitable. There are several skunk-farms which yield large returns to their owners, the beautiful fur of that little animal being worn, under fancy names, by a great many high-toned ladies. A recently inaugurated enterprise has been the tanning of some of the Alaskan furs to use as fox ranches, where the blue fox is now being propagated in great numbers; his fur, when he is thus bred and cared for, being, it is said, superior to that grown in a wild state. No doubt similar results may be secured, one of these days, by establishing ranches for the raising of the sable, the ermine, and other animals in our Alaskan domain, and in lower latitudes for the propagation of such as thrive better there.

The same idea might be well applied to the propagation of the birds of plumage, for the gratification of the inborn taste of our women for bright feathers, without resort to the destructive methods of the hunter. This has already been done in the case of the ostrich; and there is apparently no reason why we should not have ranches in our southern states, and in the tropics, for the multiplication of birds of paradise, parrots, flamingoes and other bright creatures which, under such methods, would probably become more numerous than ever in the world's history.

The world is learning the foolishness of destructive methods, whether applied to the forests or their winged or four-footed inhabitants, and the substitution thereof of preservative methods is destined; it would seem, to bring to the modern man a rich reward in permanent, instead of transitory, supplies of timber, fur and feathers.

Explaining an Ultimatum.

When a man goes home and declares that he will not pay any more foolish dry goods bills, that is an ultimatum. He issues one every few days, but no one pays any attention to them. For this reason the dear women don't understand what is so serious about the ultimatum issued by Germany and England.—Acheson Globe.

United States Mountains.

The three highest mountains in the United States, not including Alaska, are Mt. Whitney, California, 14,898 feet; Blanca Peak, Colorado, 14,464 feet, and Cerro Blanco, New Mexico, 14,239 feet. It is claimed that Mt. Rainier, Washington, is 14,500 feet high.
